

Fight, Seduction, or Negotiation?

How Does Conflict Drive Scenes?

Lesson Plan:

- Objective: to be able to identify the conflict within a scene, break it into its component parts, and understand how it is being used to propel the scene and, in turn, the film.
- Topics Covered:
  - Conflict Review
  - Types of Conflict (Story)
  - Types of Conflict (Scene)
  - Creating Conflict
  - Action Verbs
  - Live Demonstration
  - Example from Atlanta

How would you define conflict?

con·flict

noun

/'kän,flikt/

a serious disagreement or argument, typically a protracted one.

verb

/kən'flikt, 'kän,flikt/

be incompatible or at variance; clash.

Heaven and hell are within us, and all the gods are within us...
They are magnified dreams, and dreams are manifestations in image form of the energies of the body in conflict with each other.
That is what myth is. Myth is a manifestation in symbolic images, in metaphorical images, of the energies of the organs of the body in conflict with each other. This organ wants this, that organ wants that. The brain is one of the organs.

- Joseph Campbell (The Hero with a Thousand Faces)

"The Law of Conflict [nothing moves forward in a story except through conflict] is more than an aesthetic principle.; it is the soul of story. Story is metaphor for life, and to be alive is to be in seemingly perpetual conflict. As Jean-Paul Sartre expressed it, the essence of reality is scarcity, a universal and eternal lacking. There isn't enough of anything in this world to go around. Not enough food, not enough love, not enough justice, and never enough time.

Time, as Heidegger observed, is the basic category of existence. We live in its ever-shrinking shadow, and if we are to achieve anything in our brief being that lets us die without feeling we've wasted or out time, we will have to go into heady conflict with the forces of scarcity that deny our desires."

- Robert McKee (Story)

Basic Categories of Story Conflict:

- Man vs. Man
- Man vs. Nature
- Man vs. Self

Man vs.Man | Hanna (Joe Wright, 2011)

Man vs. Nature | The Revenant (Alejandro González Iñárritu, 2015)

Man vs. Man | You Were Never Really Here (Lynn Ramsay, 2017)

Additional Categories of Story Conflict:

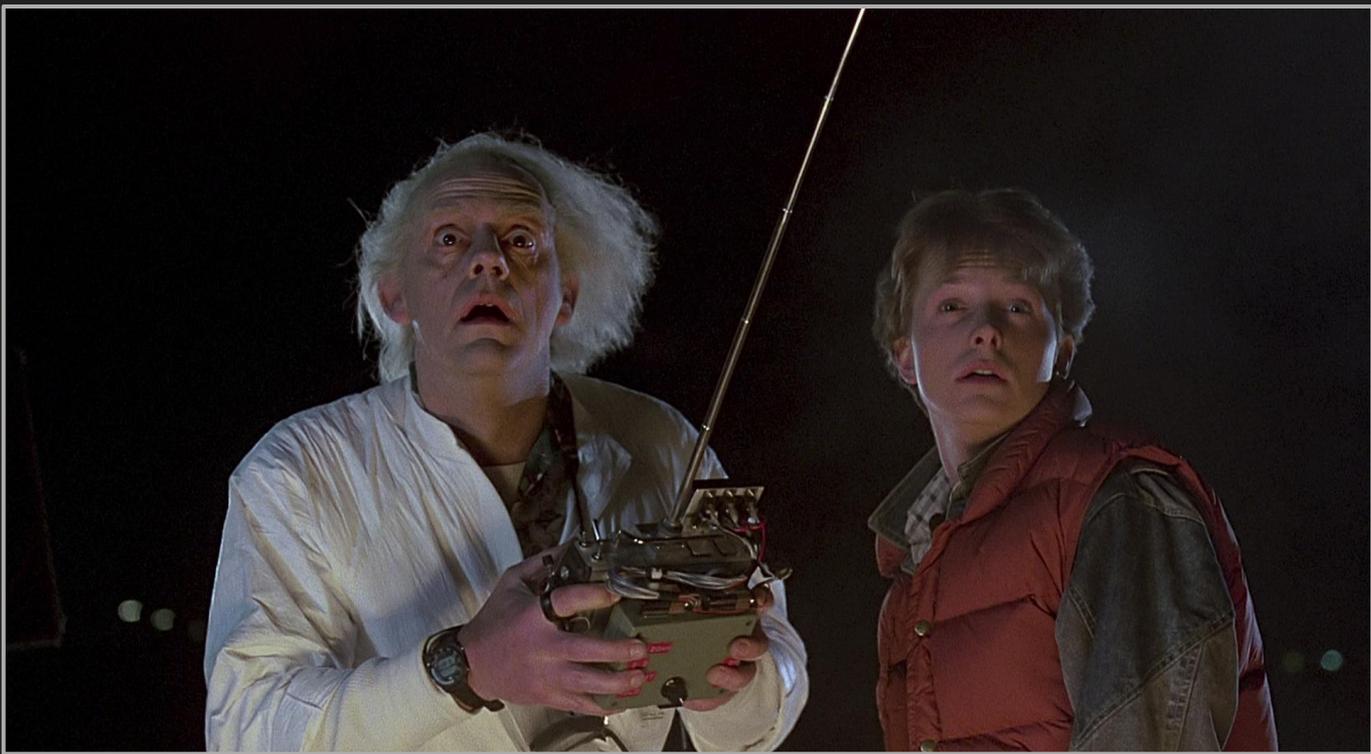

- Man vs. Machine
- Man vs. Society
- Man vs. Fate

Man vs. Machine | Ex Machina (Alex Garland, 2014)

Man vs. Society | Sorry to Bother You (Boots Riley, 2018)

Man vs. Fate | Back to the Future (Robert Zemeckis, 1985)

Examples of Scene Conflict:

- Argument (verbal or physical)
- Struggle Against Circumstance
  - e.g. Locked out of your house
- Internal Conflict (i.e. Unfulfilled Desire)
  - Writers job is to externalize through action
- Avoiding a Negative Outcome
  - e.g. Want to break up with someone but don't want to hurt their feelings
- Confusion
  - Character doesn't understand what's happening; e.g. The Bourne Identity
- Dilemma
  - Decision between two equally negative outcomes
- Adapted from Craig Mazin (Chernobyl) on Scriptnotes Episode 179

What do we need to create conflict within a scene?

WANT + OBSTACLE = CONFLICT

Action Verbs

Live Demonstration:

SETUP: I have a non-negotiable no phone policy in class.

Questions to answer:

- Who is the scene protagonist? (Who drives the scene?)
- Who wants what?
- Was it a fight, seduction, or negotiation?

Live Demonstration:

- “Put your phone away.”
  - TELL
- “I’m not kidding. Put your phone away this instant.”
  - DEMAND
- “If you don’t put your phone away you will leave this room right now and fail the class!”
  - THREATEN

Basic Conflict Scene Structure:

* Buffer - Pre-conflict banter (setup)

1 - Attempt (Scene Goal) - Easiest and most logical FIRST attempt (TELL)

- Gap between expectation and outcome explodes

2 - Attempt (DEMAND)

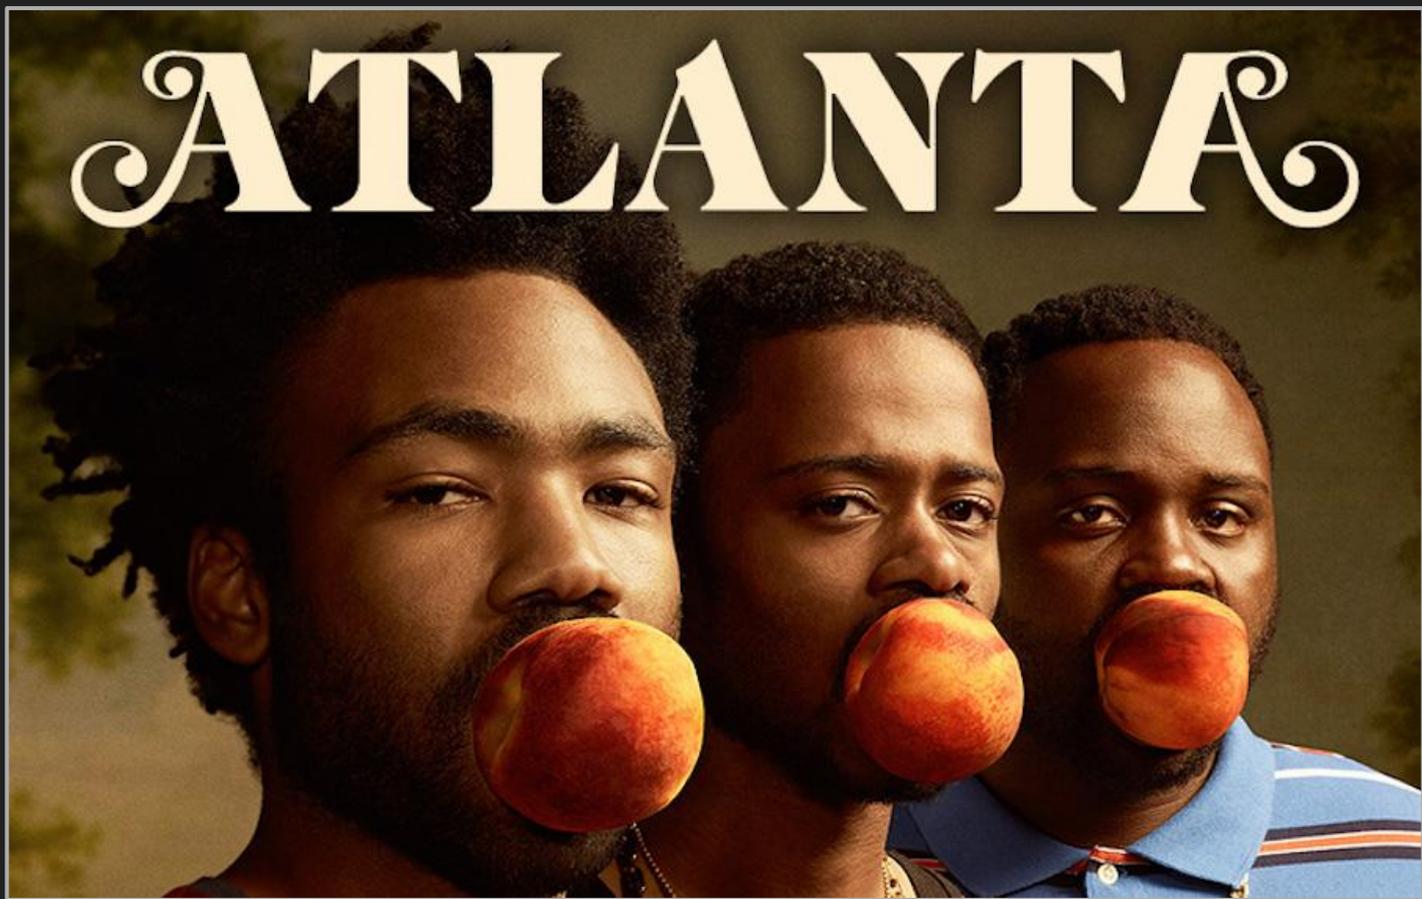

3 - Attempt (THREATEN)

4 - *Fulcrum -> Conflict could go either way

5 - Scene turn (success or failure) = Resolution & Causal Relationship to Next Scene

*There should be a clear escalation or progression through the scene.

ATLANTA

Atlanta Screenplay Example:

SETUP:

Earnest (Earn) Marks (played by show creator Donald Glover) is a Princeton dropout who has moved back to his hometown of Atlanta. He is essentially unemployed and doesn't really have a place to live except when he stays with his parents or with his "girlfriend" Van with whom he has a daughter.. He recently discovered that his cousin Alfred is becoming popular in the local music scene as the rapper Paper Boi. After failing to convince Alfred to let him be his manager he heads to a local radio station where he still has some connections.

CHARACTERS:

EARN

DAVE: "A young, actually cool-looking, white guy" who Earn knows from the Atlanta music scene. Dave works at a local radio station.

* Includes strong language that some may find offensive

Atlanta Screenplay Quick Analysis:

- Who is the scene protagonist? (Who drives the scene?)
- Who wants what?
- Who “wins” the scene? i.e. Who got what they wanted?
- Was it a fight, seduction, or negotiation?

Atlanta Scene Structure Breakdown:

* Buffer - Pre-conflict banter (setup)

1 - Attempt (Scene Goal) - Easiest and most logical FIRST attempt:

- Gap between expectation and outcome explodes
- SUGGEST (PROPOSE, ENCOURAGE)

2 - Attempt:

- PERSUADE (BARGAIN)

3 - Attempt:

- BEG (REASON, PLEAD)

4 - *Fulcrum -> Conflict could go either way

5 - Scene turn (success or failure) = Resolution & Causal Relationship to Next Scene

*There should be a clear escalation or progression through the scene.

Objectives (wants) make possible conflict and a sense of event in the relationship because the actors are doing something to each other rather than doing something to the lines.

- Judith Weston (Directing Actors)

Watch Atlanta Scene:

Breakdown Atlanta Scene:

- Did the scene confirm our expectations? Why or why not?
- How did the editing/shot selection/blocking articulate the conflict?

DAVE

Obviously. If I knew you were in town I would've invited you to the party last night. We needed a real DJ. This dude's playing Flo Rida back-to-back. I literally walked up to the booth, calmly took him to the side, and just said: "Really, nigga?"

EARN

('nigga")

Ha...you actually did that?

Attempt #1 (SUGGEST):

EARN

Okay...Have you heard the song "Paper Boi"?

DAVE

Paper Boi by Paper Boi? Yeah, I've heard that.
Shit is fire. Streets love it.

EARN

You guys should play it.

DAVE

Yeah, for real.

EARN

Nah, but seriously y'all should play "Paper Boi".

Attempt #2 (PERSUADE):

DAVE
KP picks all the music.

EARN
Can you slide it past him?

DAVE
Well, I mean, KP will usually spin some records for some scratch up top.

EARN
How much?

DAVE
Half a stack.

EARN
Five hundred dollars?! Am I buying the station?

DAVE
Everything is who you know.

EARN
Introduce men then.

DAVE
Yeah. I'll just introduce every dude in Atlanta, with a mixtape to my boss.

Attempt #2 (PERSUADE):

EARN

I'm not every dude.

DAVE

You kind of are.

Attempt #3 (BEG):

EARN

I don't have five hundred dollars to give. I'm making $5.15 an hour plus commissions. I gotta pay rent tonight. My parents won't let me in the house. Like those drug commercials, only not funny.

DAVE

Man, you know how niggas are out here. He usually charges a full C.

EARN

Then what's in it for you? Why am I so lucky? What's your cut?

DAVE

I'm not about that. I'm too busy, man.

Fulcrum -> Crisis could go either way:

DAVE
I mean, it's business. You give me the money, I pass it on to KP.

DAVE
It's probably for the best, man. Music business is gross. Alright, man,
I'm takin over tonight for Speedy. Keep it locked.

Attempt #3 (BEG):

Fulcrum -> Crisis could go either way:

What are some possibilities for what the next scene could be?

*The Next Scene:

*This scene is known as a "French scene". In a "French scene" the beginning and end are marked by a change in the presence of characters, rather than by a change in time or location.

Review:

1. What was this scene: fight, seduction, or negotiation?
2. Why is conflict important?
  - Putting characters in situations where they need to make difficult decisions gives a scene momentum.
  - The moment to moment decisions will generally relate to the conflict (and central dramatic argument) of the film as a whole, giving a sense of unity.
  - Those choices also reveal a character's true nature and, in turn, they are a reflection of who we are. Through these characters we gain a deeper understanding about ourselves and what it means to be a human being.
  - Revisit quotes by Joseph Campbell and Robert McKee
